

William Smith's Story

"William Smith finds the solution"

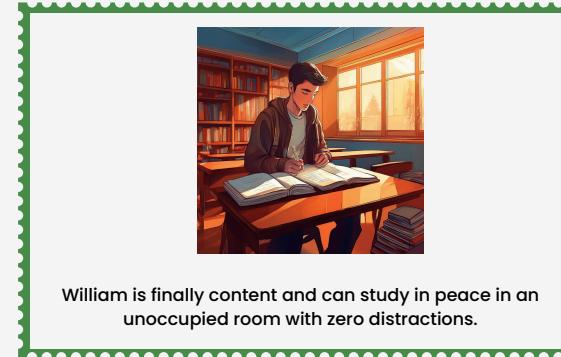

William is in his freshman year of college, and is struggling to stay focused because of his loud roommates.

William decides enough is enough and searches for a solution to this problem. He does not want his grades being negatively affected by this.

William finds an app called Room Finder on the app store. He downloads it and is immediately impressed with how easy the app is to navigate. He tests it.

William is finally content and can study in peace in an unoccupied room with zero distractions.

Daniel Walker's Story

"Daniel Walker improves his productivity"

Daniel is a remote business owner who cannot focus while his wife and three children are disturbing him on phone calls. He needs a spot with no people at all with zero distractions.

Daniel is afraid his business will be negatively affected by this conundrum. He begins to search for a solution.

Daniel's business partner tells Daniel about an app called Room Finder which has helped his business partner become more efficient in his work.

Daniel loves the app because it not only finds university rooms but also empty office rooms where he can work in peace.

Kelly Jones' Story

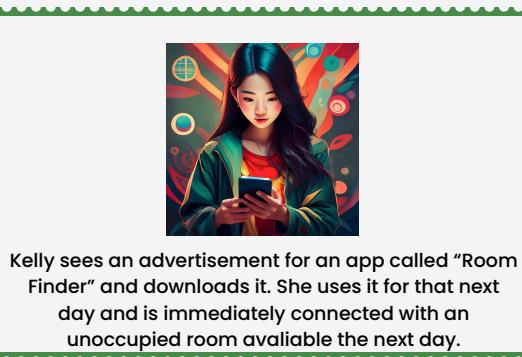

"Kelly works around poor university management"

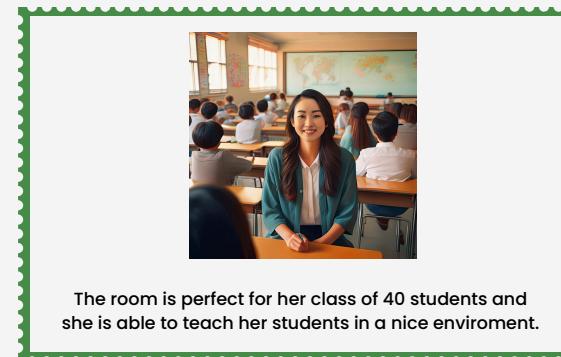

Kelly is selected to teach a University 101 class during graduate school!

Kelly runs into a big issue with the school. The university failed to assign her a room for her class. Kelly is mad, but she is determined to find a way around this.

Kelly sees an advertisement for an app called "Room Finder" and downloads it. She uses it for that next day and is immediately connected with an unoccupied room available the next day.

The room is perfect for her class of 40 students and she is able to teach her students in a nice environment.
